

➤ Fictions in Law, Literature, and Philosophy

Concept, Function, Development

02. December 2021, 18.15: Guest Lecture Dr. Hans Lind (New Haven)

03. December 2021, 9.00–12.00: Workshop

This workshop aims to address the phenomenon of fiction which is prominent in contemporary debates in law, literature, and philosophy. Starting by illustrating the conceptual, the functional as well as the historical characteristics of fictions in each of the aforementioned disciplines, we will discuss commonalities between the uses of fictions across the various disciplines.

Guest Lecture (02. December 2021) via Zoom
18.15: Dr. Hans Lind: Fiktion und Gesetz

Zoom-Link:

<https://wwu.zoom.us/j/69751700824?pwd=aFFwcmQzNERLZ1RsQzhNazByTld4Zz09>

Meeting-ID: 697 5170 0824

Kenncode: 966475

Workshop (03. Dec. 2021), CRC 1385 Law and Literature, hybrid/English Seminar, Johannisstr. 12, ES 202

09.00 – 09.45: Nursan Celik: Anything, but a deus ex machina – Towards the Concept and Structure of Literary Fictions

09.45 – 10.30: Dr. Laura A. Zander: Pleasures of Liminality – Fiction(s) in Law and Literature

10.30 – 11.00: Coffee Break

11.00 – 11.45: Constantin Luft: What's in a Name? Legal Fictions and Philosophical Fictionalism

11.45 – 12.00: Concluding Remarks

Zoom-Link:

<https://wwu.zoom.us/j/64401847065?pwd=ZFpsbEhTU21NVFRYdEZETCsrcHkxQT09>

Meeting-ID: 644 0184 7065

Kenncode: 649893

For the workshop pre-registration is required by December 1st with ncelik@uni-muenster.de if you wish to participate in presence. Please note that only those willing to comply with the 3G policy can participate.